OBITUARY. Rev. James A. M. La Tourette, Chaplain in the United States Army. Rev. James A. M. La Tourette, chaplain in the United States army, died yesterday morning in this city. He has resided here with his family for two years, ill health compelling him to retire from active service. He was appointed to a chaplaincy in the army more than twenty years ago, and has been stationed at Governor's Island, Fort Garland and Fort Lyon, Col., and Fort Union, N. M. He was prelate of the New Mexico Knights Templars, and represented the jurisdiction in the standing committee of the Episcopal Church. He will be buried Friday from Grace Cathedral, and the services will be conducted by Bishop Knicker-backer.

George A. Reisner.

George A. Reisner, a well-known merchant, died Tuesday afternoon at his home on North Tennessee street, of la grippe followed by heart disease. The deceased was a native of Virginia, and was the son of parents who came to America from Worms, Germany. He was a veteran in the war and a member of the Grand Army.

Child Run Over. Arthur Stevens, a boy living at No. 222 South East street, was run over near the transfer car last evening and received severe bruises and cuts.

OLD TIMES BROUGHT BACK

Veterans of Numerous Regiments Hold Their Reunions and Tell War Stories.

Big Dinner at the Streight Farm-Court-Rouse Full of the Comrades-Business Meetings and Camp-Fires.

The reunion and annual dinner of the Fifty-first Indiana at Gen. A. D. Streight's suburban home, near Irvington, has become a regular institution. Over 1.0 survivors were present, and perhaps seven hundred persons took dinner. It was, altogether, the most enthusiastic and successful of the series. The Union Band furnished music. Gen. M. D. Manson, Gov. Chase, Department Commander Walker, Hon. G. W. Julian and many others were guests. The boys began assembling before 9 o'clock, and spent the day together in reminiscences, war songs and speechmaking. A handsome clock was presented Mrs. Streight by lady friends connected with the regiment, and every family received a nandsome souvenir in the form a cabinet photo of the esteemed "mother of the regiment."

The boys are lond in their praises of the hospitality of the occasion. The regimental association elected the following officers: President, James H. Welton, Knox county; vice-president, M. L. Johnson, Indianapolis; secretary, W. H. Cochran, Indianapolis; treasurer, A. C. Weaver, Pittsboro. A tent 40x60 feet was provided in ease of raip. Company historians were appointed, and W. R. Hartpence, of Harrison, O., was made regimental historian, and efforts will be made to secure matter for company and regimental history. The next meeting will be held at the same place, Wednesday of State fair week, next year.

Twenty-Sixth Infantry.

The reunion of the Twenty-sixth Indiana Infantry was held at Room 2, Superior Court-room, yesterday, commencing at 10 o'clock A. M. President Frank M. Hollis presided, and G. G. Long, secretary, was a his desk. The morning was spent in handshaking and greeting of comrades, several being present from other States, some of whom had never been present at a reunion of the regiment before. Committees were appointed to nominate officers and to fix the time and place of the next reunion. Reports of officers were received and approved. At 1 o'clock over one hundred sat down to a good dinner at the Brunswick Hotel as guests of the resident members. The association met again at 2 o'clock. Wednesday of State fair week, at Indianapolis, was selected as the time and place of the next meeting. The following officers were elected, president, Henry C. Adams, Indianapolis; vice-president, Capt. William J. Wallace, Southport, Ind.; treasurer, William H. Thompson, Indianapolis; secretary, G. G. Lang, Indianapolis; secretary, G. G. Lang, Indianapolis, Among those present were Col. John G. Ciark, Col. A. D. Rose, Col. N. A. Logan, former commander of the regiment. One hundred and twenty-one members regisdown to a good dinner at the Brunswick hundred and twenty-one members regis-tered. The roll was called of those who were present at the first requion, and thir-ty-five responded "present." Quite a num-ber of comrades were attended by their ber of comrades were attended by their wives and children. Remarks were made by Cols. Clark, Rose, Logan and others.

At 7:30 the veterans, with their wives and daughters, were given a reception by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Adams, corner of Alabama and Home avenue, where a delightful evening was spent. The house and lawn were illuminated, and refreshments were Meeting of the Seventy-Ninth. The Seventy-ninth Indiana regimental rennion was held in the Criminal Courtroom yesterday with 135 members, an unusually large attendance. Gen. Fred Knefler, colonel of the regiment, presided, and among the officers present were Lieut.-Col. George W. Parker of Pendleton, Maj. John G. Dunbar of Greencastle, Captain Abbett of Des Moines, Is. Speeches were made by of Des Moines, Ia. Speeches were made by Oliver Long, now of Chicago, who has not met with the regiment since the muster-out twenty-six years ago; Amos Beeson, Major Dunbar, Capt. E. F. Ritter, Judge D. W. Howe and others. Charles J. Many showed a time-yellow piece of paper, upon which an army press had printed Major Gen. Thomas J. Wood's thanks in a general order to the officers and soldiers of the Seventy-ninth and Eighty-sixth Indiana, the Eighty-minth Illinois, and the Ninety-third and One-hundred-and-twenty-third Ohio regiments. The veterans listened with much emotion, and evidently regarded the stained bit of paper as something sacred. The following officers as something sacred. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Fred Knetler; vice-president, E. F. Ritter; historian, D. W. Howe; secretary and treasurer, Charles J. Many.

Fifty-Fourth Indiana.

The Fifty-fourth Regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry, held its third annual reunion yesterday in Superior Court room No. 3. Col. F. Mansfield, of St. Louis, Mo., presided: L. H. Marshall, of Akron, O., secretary. Seventy-nine of the survivors answered to roll-call. Considerable time was taken up with greetings, after which came short speeches of army reminiscences. Resolutions of condolence and sympathy were passed on a number of deaths that have occurred in the families of con rades and in behalf of the loss of comrades by their families. For the ensuing year the following officers were elected:

President-F. Mansfield, St. Louis. Vice-presidents-W. M. Connor, Indianapolis; P. Streeter, Marion: W. H. Neif, Ladoga; John Welker, Greenville, O. Secretary and Treasurer- L. H. Marshall, Ak-Assistant Secretary-Asa E. Sample, Knights-

The organization will hold its next annual requien on Wednesday of State fair week, 1892. Thirteenth Infantra The Thirteenth Indiana Volunteer Infantry survivors met yesterday in the Circuit Court room. There were about fifty present, among whom were many who have not met with the boys for several years. Gen. Robert S. Foster, the bld Colonel "Sandy," as he is lovingly known to the regiment, was present, and was warmly received. The time was taken up with speeches and anecdotes. A touching tribute was paid, by Maj. M. M. Gordon, of Logansport, to the memory of Capt. T. M. Kirkpatrick, who died on the 11th instant. Officers of the association, elected for the ensuing year, are: President, D. S. Durbin; vice-president, J. A. Robinson; secretary and treasurer, George E. Lowry, all of this city. The executive committee will consist of Wm. A. Ketcham, Louis Lange and L. H. Daniels, In the evening a camp-fire was held, at which there was music, recitations and Second Cavalry.

The Second Indiana Cavalry survivors met in their sixth annual session, in George H. Thomas Post hall, with Capt. Alex. Hess. of Wabash, in the chair, and about eighty members present. The first colonel of this regiment was Col. John A. Bridgland, who died last June one year ago. A touching memorial was read setting forth his services and character. This regiment first made its rendezvous at Camp Morton, but was afterward removed to Camp Bridgland, on Fall creek, to the northeast of the present State fair-grounds, from which it marched through the State to Kentucky. The members had a thoroughly enjoyable time recounting the stirring events of camp and field. Rev. B. F. Cavens, of Peru, was elected president, and Dr. A. J. Smith, of Wabash, secretary and treasurer for the ensuing year. The next reunion of the regment will be held on Wednesday of State fair week, 1892. Sixty-Seventh Volunteers. In Room 93, State-house, at 2:30 P. M., the their reunion, about eighty members being present, William H. Aiken, of Hope, presiding. The mother of Maj. Augustus Ab-

bett who was killed at Noblesville, Kr., in 1862, was present, as was also her daughter. Mrs. Emma Crane. Both were made honorary members of the regiment. J. N. Maring presented the members handsome blue and gold badges, upon which were inscribed the names of the battles in which the regiment had taken part. For the ensuing year R. B. Scott, of Bedford, was elected president; Charles H. Bowington, of Indianapo-lis, vice-president; J. N. Maring, Columbus, secretary and treasurer. It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Bedford, on Tuesday of the week of the county fair, 1892.

Thirteenth Cavalry. The Thirteenth Indiana Cavalry rennion took place in room No. 12, State-house, yesterday afternoon and evening. There were fifty survivors of the regiment present, and many of them had brought their wives and daughters, which made the gathering take on quite a comfortable family appearance. There were the usual old soldier speeches and narrations of army incidents, which are always new, and considerable singing of patriotic songs. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as President-Dr. W. B. Ryan, city. Vice-president-Leslie Trotter, Corydon. Secretary -Q. D. Reeves, city.

In the evening a camp-fire was held, at which a number of speeches were made and young ladies volunteered recitations, vocal and instrumental music.

Twenty-Eighth Indiana. The Twenty-eighth United States Colored Infantry veterans met yesterday at P. M., at Judge Franklin's hotel, and were called to order by Frank Jones, temporary chairman. S. Kersey was chosen secretary. Short and stirring speeches were made by Mr. Braybry, of Kokomo, and others. A letter was read announcing the death of Comrade Felton, which was the occasion of deep regret. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Kersey, Steward and Brooks, were appointed to secure a hall for to-day, in which to hold reunion services and to take suitable action in regard to the death of Mr. Felton. Later in the day the committee secured Superior Court room No. 1, and the meeting will be held there at 10 A. M., to-day.

No Monument This Year.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PENDLETON, Sept. 23.-A discussion arose at the meeting of the old soldiers of the Thirty-fourth Regiment at Pendleton today over the proposition to erect a $5,000 monument at Anderson during the coming year. It was finally decided to postpone the location of the monument until the next meeting, which will be held at Warren, Ind., Sept. 21 and 22, 1892. Comrade Harter, who had been assigned the duty of preparing a history of the regiment, reported that he was meeting with good suchands of the printer. The following offi-cers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John Chopson, of Warren; vice-president, Morgan Ware, of Huntington; secretary, C. B. Porter, of Landers.

Why It Was Numbered "Seven." Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARTINSVILLE, Sept. 23 .- One huedndr and fifty members of the "Old Seventh" Regiment, Indiana Volunteers, attended the reunion in this city to-day. This was the first regiment organized after the call of Governor Morton for recruits. Colonel Dumont was allowed, by Governor Morton, to number his own regiment. Domont was partial to the number seven, from a biblical stand-point, and thus it is that the first regiment was so numbered. It participated in many of the bardest battles of the Eighth Cavalry Reunion Closed.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CICERO, Sept. 23 .- The most successful reunion ever held by the Thirty-ninth Indiana, or Bighth Cavalry, closed here today. About 150 of the regiment were present. Three sessions were held yesterday and two to-day. The citizens were in hearty sympathy with the veterans and everything passed off without a far. Capt. John Hamilton was elected president and John H. Weitnan secretary of the association for the ensuing year. The next reunion will be held at Seymour.

A POLICE COURT INCIDENT.

Justice Might Be Tempered for Political Reasons-Sallivan and the G. A. R. Badge.

Ben Persley, a colored teamster, was fined by Mayor Sullivan on Tuesday for whipping his own child, a twelve-year-old boy. Persley, it seems, was a soldier during the late war, and is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He wears the badge of that patriotic order and is proud of the fact that he, a colored man, was given the privilege of fighting for the freedom of his race. The other day his boy, in a spirit of mischief, destroyed this honored badge, and the father gave him a sound thrashing. Persley's neighbors took it upon themselves to have him arrested and brought before Mayor Sullivan, who gave him punishment to the extent of $15. Dennis A. Murphy, employed by the Concrete Paving Company, for Persley does teaming, called on the Mayor to plead for leniency. "I went to see the Mayor on Tuesday morning," said Mr. Murphy, "to ask him to call Ben's trial early, so that he could get to work hauling gravel. I also explained his offense, that the toy had destroyed a Grand Army badge, and had been properly licked for it. My father and myself have always been Democrats. The Mayor turned on me and said, 'you and your father have been fighting me pretty hard, and I should think fighting me pretty hard, and I should think you wouldn't come here to ask a favor of me. But if you will let up on me I may do you a favor this morning.' I made him no promise, and the colored man was fined. There was no one to hear this conversation. which was between the Mayor and myself, When I urged the way that Ben had been provoked by the destruction of the Grand Army badge, Mayor Sullivan said the Grand Army badge was no argument to bring up to him. The talk about the badge was after Persley had been fined."

A few minutes later the reporter met Terence Murphy, father of Dennis A. Murphy. "I served under Gen. Jeff. C. Davis, in the Twenty-second Indiana Regiment," said the old gentleman, "and my son's story of the lightness with which Mayor Sullivan regards the destroying of the G. A. R. badge doesn't suit me. He doesn't like my son or myself because we are going to vote for Mr. Herod. I've always been a Democrat, but I was raised with Herod. Why"—here the veteran's eyes moistened—"we were boys together down at Columbus at the old Seminary and-and-of course I'm for my old school-

Protest Against Wabash Street and Other Minor Matters Considered.

The proceedings of the Board of Public Works yesterday morning were about as thrilling as one of Judge Buskirk's political speeches, the consideration of a few minor petitions and protests being the sum total accomplished. The contract for the improvement of Albemarle street, from Clifford avenue to Orange street, by grading and graveling and paving the sidewalks with brick, was let to James W. Hudson, at $1.53 per lineal foot. The paving with brick of the south sidewalk on Michigan street, from Pine to Archer, was let to J. L. Spaulding, at 49

A petition was presented to vacate the east and west allies between Eighth and Ninth streets and between Central avenue and Broadway.

A petition from owners of real estate on Pearl street, between Pennsylvania and Illinois, was presented asking for the adoption of a resolution for changing the width of the roadway so as to make the sidewalk five feet wide. Referred to city engineer.

Mr. Gilbert, representing a large and in-telligent constituency, protested against the slowness of the contractors in the construction of the bridge on North Meridian street, and the board promised to apply some "hurry-up" specific. James T. Goodwin and Junius S. Morgao, trustees, protested against the acceptance of the improvement of Wabash street, from Pennsylvania to Delaware. The specifications, the protest stated, required the side-walks to be four feet and eight inches wide, while in fact, the sidewalk in spots was as narrow as three feet and ten inches. Again, it was alleged that twenty-six feet of sidewalk on the south side had not been replaced as provided. It was asked that in the event of the acceptance of the work the protestors be given credit for $77.27 for the sidewalk constructed by them adjacent to the Grand Opera-house. Notwithstanding the protest the board approved estimates in favor of the Western Paving and Supply Company for the work in question, amounting to $3,889.79. he laying of a water-main on East Unio street, from Arsenal avenue to State street, The contract for a brick sidewalk on the south side of Twelfth street, from Illinois to Talbott avenue, including the bowldering of the street and alley crossings, was let to J. L. Spanlding, at 64 cents a foot. A declaratory resolution was adopted for the improvement with brick of the east sidewalk on State avenue, from a point 194.4 feet north of Washington street to Michigan street. Also the west sidewalk, from Market to Koller street.

A petition for the cleaning and repair of Madison avenue, from Delaware street to Lincoln Lane, was referred to the street A resolution was adopted for the vacation of the first alley east of Illinois street, from Twelfth street to the first alley north;

also to vacate the first alley east of Doug-lass street, from Elizabeth street to the first alley south. Prof. A. R. Benton, of Butler University, presented a communication notifying the board that a remonstrance was in process of construction against the improvement of Christian avenue with a plaza in the center. Professor Benton offered some reasons why the improvement should not be made on that plan.

FAMOUS WOMAN ILL.

Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace Stricken Down While Lecturing in an Illinois Village.

Assistant Postmaster David B. Wallace received a telegram yesterday noon from Shannon, Ill., announcing the serious illness of bisaged mother, Mrs. G. Zerelda Wallace, who was filling a lecture engagement at that place. The telegram arrived so late that he was delayed several hours in getting started for Shannon, taking the first train possible for that point, being met en route by Gen. Lew Wallace. During the afternoon a number of telegrams came to him making anxious inquiries for his mother. The news had become known through the papers, and among those who telegraphed to Mr. Wallace for information were Miss Susan B. Anthony and Miss Frances E. Willard. The Journal last evening recerved the following from its Freeport, Ili.

"Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace lectured in Freeport Monday evening and left for Shannon at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, having been advertised to lecture there in the evening. She met the W. C. T. U. in the afternoon, delivering an address of an hour's length. In the evening she went to the church feeling in her usual health and had only spoken a few moments when she said: 'I shall not be able to pursue this argument further. I am sick.' Before help could reach her she sank down upon the floor. It was not long until she was nifted up and laid upon the platform while a cot was being prepared upon which she might be removed. It soon came and strong arms placed her upon it and bore her to the residence of Dr. J. A. Smith, where she was being entertained during her stay in Shannon.

"10 A. M.—Mrs. Wallace is unconscious and sinking. Telegrams have been sent to Gen. Lew Wallace, at Crawfordsville, and to her son, David Wallace, at Indianapolis. She passed a restless night, her ailment developing into cholera morbus. The extreme heat and constant labors of the lady, who is about seventy-five years old, are undoubtedly responsible for the attack. The engagements for the near future she will doubtless be unable to fill, as the doctor expresses an opinion that she is seriously ill. All that kind friends can do is being done, and the sympathy of the community is with the afflicted lady. It is thought by all who hover around her bed that the end of this noble Christian lady's life is near." Mrs. Wallace left here two weeks ago for Missouri on a lecture tour. She had started home from there, stopping at several points in Illinois to fill engagements. In a recent letter from St. Joseph, Mo., to her son David she expressed a desire to get home as soon as possible, because of the change from cool to hot weather. These appointments she has been filling re-cently are ones postponed from last fall, when she was interrupted in her platform work by a bilions attack, the effects of which lasted several months. Mrs. Watlace, although in her seventy-fifth year, is strong in mind and body, and was in great demand as a temperance lecturer. So pressing were the calls upon her in this work that she was compelled, finally, to limit her field to Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, feeling that it would be wise, in view of her advanced age. to keep reasonably near home. She is a gifted talker, and is beloved by thonsands for her noble, unselfish work in the cause of temperance. In the Woman's Christian Temperance Union she is regarded as a woman shose place it would be imization in its zeal placed too great a load on her willing shoulders and she sunk under Mrs. Zerelda Wallace was born in Ken-tucky, her father. Dr. Sanders, being a Virginian by birth. He came here many years ago, and was one of the most prom-inent of the early physicians of Indian-apolis. He lived in a large house near the site of Fletcher-place Church, and owned two or three hundred acres along what is now Virginia avenue. Dr. Sanders also owned the postoffice site, which was sold by his widow to the government years ago, Mrs. Wallace has been making her home for the most part with her daughter, Mrs. Steiner, at Cataract farm, in Owen county, about twelve miles from Gosport. Mrs. Steiner and David Wallace are the only children living, Gen. Lew Wallace being a step-son, and a devoted one. The late William Wallace was also a step-son of the estimable lady. Her many friends in this city and State will anxiously await news from her bedside, for a more generally - beloved woman never resided in Indianapolis.

CONTEMPORARY CLUB.

First Meeting of the Season-Miss Balgarnie Talks on English Women.

The first meeting of the Contemporary Club was held last evening at the Propylæum. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Holliday, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baldwin, Miss Margaretta Elder and the ex-president, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, received the company. After the members of the club had assem bled Miss Florence Balgarnie, of London, England, the speaker for the evening, was introduced, and her subject was "The En glish Woman of To-day." Miss Balgarnie is herself a fine illustration of her subject. In form and feature she is the typical English woman, of strong physique, fresh, ruddy complexion and light-brown hair. She is a typical walker, and can go miles where the average American woman goes blocks. Miss Balgarnie is a university-educated woman, is secretary of the British Suffrage Association, and had charge of their headquarters in London. She came to this country last spring as a representative of the British Suffrage Association and a fraternal delegate to the national council of women. She has extended her visit and is traveling and speaking before the conspicuous clubs of the country, notably the Con-temporary Club, of Philadelphia. Her theme last night included the reforms, the education and the pecuniary independence of English women, and was a comprehensive and interesting talk throughout. Miss Balgarnie, with Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Smart, of Lafayette, and Mrs. John M. Judan, of Memphis, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sewall at dinner, and this evening they will entertain Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith and Mrs. Worley, both of the world's fair commission, with Miss Balgarnie, to talk over the world's fair, as Miss Balgarnie will seek to advance its interests among the women of England upon her return. Before going home, however, Miss Balgarnie will meet with Mrs. Potter Palmer in Chicago relative to the same matter.
